SERIOUS MOTOR ACCIDENT

Miss Cordell Correll of Whitnel and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Douglass of the county, were injured yesterday morning near Drum Brothers' store at Bandy's cross roads, when Jacob E. Setzer of Terrell, ex-register of deeds, ran into them as they stood in a cloud of dust in the road.

Miss Correll was the worst hurt and was rushed to Hickory hospital where last night it was said she was seriously but not fatally injured, they thought. Mr. and Mrs. Douglass were painfully injured but not seriously enough to send them to the hospital. Dr. H. E. Rowe and his brother, Dr. Robert Rowe of Bessemer City, who is here visiting, went to the scene when the call was sent for help, and attended the injured people.

Miss Correll was hurt about the head and throat, the wheel catching and dragging her some feet. Mr. Douglass was injured in several places and his legs bruised. Mrs. Douglass was hurt on the arms and shoulders. Miss Correll is a sister of Mrs. Douglass.

The accident occurred just after two machines had whizzed by, raising a cloud of dust. A buggy was also passing. Mr. Setzer was running very slowly, and the trio did not see him and could not see them on account of the dust.—Newton Enterprise.

GEORGE P. SHUFORD

George P. Shuford was a son of David Shuford who was a son of pioneer John Shuford. George Shuford was born in Lincoln county now, Catawba, October 24, 1806. His father, David Shuford married Elizabeth Ramsaur. She was a daughter of Jacob Ramsaur. David Shuford and wife were members of the Reformed church at Grace. I believe David Shuford was one of the first trustees of Grace church. He and others built Grace church. The first building was a log church. A few years before the late war, a new building was erected which is now used as a church. The first pastor of Grace church was Rev. Andrew Loretz.

(The wife of David Shuford was born in 1774. Her father lived at the old Ramsaur Mill where was fought the battle of Ramsaur's Mill June 20, 1780. The wife of David Shuford was six years of age when the noted battle was fought between the Whigs and Tories. She died in 1853. Her funeral was preached by Rev. J. H. Crawford, who was a minister in the Reformed church and in the Shuford family for many years.

George P. Shuford married Mary Baker, who died Aug. 16, 1834. She is buried in the Shuford grave yard on the John Shuford farm. There were two children by this marriage. The children are John Sidney and Sarah Ann.
